Andrew Jackson

Front-end web developer

jxndevelopment.com
github.com/inactionjackson

andrew@jxndevelopment.com

EXPERIENCE

I have over 10 years of experience working with various web, mobile, and game development technologies. Currently I am focused on front-end web development, primarily with React. My varied development and design experience, coupled with years of customer service and sales work, makes it easy for me to communicate across different teams / disciplines and fill in where needed.

Web Developer — Freelance

I left my previous job to return to my preferred career as a web developer. I picked up React, caught up with current web standards, and put together a new portfolio. I am currently offering freelance web development, photography, and videography services while looking for full-time employment.

Web Developer / Regional Manager —D.E.S.

I was originally hired to build the company website and online store. My role then transitioned into developing new scheduling / inventory software, training other office staff on its use and handling all marketing / branding. After a year I was also responsible for overseeing all field contractors in Ohio, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania.

Web Developer — Freelance

I mostly worked as a contractor for a local design company (R squared), building the functionality for the sites they designed, and I also did other independent freelance work as well. My focus was on PHP, MySql, javascript, and actionscript. Projects included: software to compile reports for a concrete aggregate testing facility, an Android app that integrated with a wholesale warehouse's ordering system for in the field order entry, and various small business websites

Skills

Javascript (React & vanilla)

PHP / MySql

HTML / CSS / SaSS

Git

Graphic Design & Photo-Editing (Adobe CC)

Copywriting

Communication & Teamwork